As Skimpy Airlines users, we want to design and implement a web application that features a user friendly flight planner.

As users, the application allows them to:

- Sign up and login to use any of the application's services
- Create a new profile with their username and password
- Delete their own user created flights

As a unregistered user, the application allows them to:

- Search for any airports within a specific city
- Search for any cities with a specific airport
- Search for the current weather at their destination
